LOVELORN BOY TRIES SUICIDE

Despondent Because Object of His Affections Was Cold, Perry Ash,
19, Takes Acid.

HIS ATTEMPT IS ALL IN VAIN

Forlorn Youth Asks 15-Year-Old
Miss to Attend Celebration Here
—She Refused.

Despondent, he said, because a little fifteen-year-old girl would not attend the Fourth of July celebration here with him, Perry Ash, age nineteen, employed at Elmore Gibson's truck garden farm about two miles west of the city, took a quantity of carbolic acid about ten o'clock last night in an attempt to commit suicide.

His attempt was in vain. This morning he was up and walking about the house, even though the physician advised him to remain in bed. He is suffering from burns occasioned by taking the acid, but he will likely recover, the attending physician says.

Young Ash may have been admiring this fifteen-year-old miss from afar for some time. No one seems to know. The little girl was not aware that she was the subject of his adoring glances at any rate. Ash promised last night, after he had regained consciousness and was able to talk, that he would be good, and he expressed the wish that he would recover, just as soon as he was able to talk fluently.

Ash did ask the youthful miss he admired to come to Rushville with him for the Fourth. She refused. Ash came without her. But he was so lonely without her by his side that he worked up his courage enough in the afternoon to prepare for the rash deed.

Ash went to a local drug store and purchased two ounces of carbolic acid. Growing more despondent every moment he went home last night with his mind made up that he would seek solace in death. He retired early. About ten o'clock members of the Gibson family heard a noise in the young farm laborer's room.

They rushed to the room just as he was thrown into convulsions. Dr. Frank Green was called immediately, and rushed to his bedside in time to save the boy from a horrible death. Probably the fact that members of the Gibson family gave Ash whiskey at once did as much as anything else to save his life. The attending physician said that alcohol was the best antidote in the case of carbolic acid poisoning, and that whiskey was the next best.

It required little more than an hour for Dr. Green to bring Ash back to his senses once more. Dr. Green found the bottle with about a half ounce of the poison left. Thy physician says that Ash never took the other ounce and a half else he would have died. He spilled a large quantity of it.

Once before Ash asked the object of his lovelorn glances to ride to Rushville with him, but she refused. The second time, yesterday when she would not attend the celebration here was more than Ash could withstand.

Members of the little girl's family said that they had never noticed that Ash lavished any more affections on the little miss, for whom he professed love after the attempt at suicide, than he had on any other members of the family. The little girl said Ash had never made any declarations of love to her.

Ash is an orphan and hails from the vicinity of Morristown. He has always been especially well liked by his employer, and has been regarded as a sensible youth.

WORD TO THE WISE WAS SUFFICIENT

Sheriff Clata Behout Told Indianapolis Gamblers at Fair Ground
Yesterday to Pack Up.

THEY MADE HASTE IN DOING IT

Five Indianapolis men came down yesterday to pick up a few stray dollars off the yokels at the Fourth of July celebration at the fair ground. They had the game well under way when Sheriff Clata Behout was notified that gamblers were working on the grounds. He "eased" up to the outfit and saw one nice big pot pulled down by the coterie from the Capitol City. One man was running the game and four "cappers" were working in the crowd. The sheriff whispered in the ear of the "capper" that he would give them a chance to save their "hides." The "capper" replied that "word to the wise was sufficient," and the outfit packed up and left the ground in the next few moments. At first they argued the question and wanted to play for a smaller pot, but the sheriff could see nothing but a gambling game, no matter what the size of the pot might be.

J. FEUDNER HOME FROM TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. J. Feudner arrived last evening from the annual outing of the National Press Association in South Dakota. The editors were shown all of the interesting points in the State, the Black Hills included in the number. They traveled in four Pullman cars and slept there each night during the two weeks' trip. In every city or town of any importance where a stop was made the scribes were entertained with dinners and trips of instruction by the commercial organizations.

A meeting was held in Chicago before the trip. While there the editors were shown through the place where Selig motion pictures are made. A picture of the inspection tour was made, and in two and a half hours the visitors saw the film in which they participated. Mr. Feudner may be seen in several pictures made during the editor's stay in Chicago.

BALLOONIST HURT IN FALL

John Innis Had Close Call From Death in Drop Off Roof of Building.

Large Air Bag Failed to Carry Him and Fell Over on Helm
Building.

John Innis, the veteran balloonist, came near making his last ascension last night and that he was not killed or seriously injured is considered remarkable. The accident to Innis was the only one that marred the Fourth of July celebration given by the Red Men and came at the close of the day's events.

Mr. Innis made his ascension from the old foundry lot in North Perkins street and the accident occurred very shortly after he started. The balloon arose in the air only a short distance when it began to come down. It was carried over on top of the Helm building in Main street. Mr. Innis was thrown heavily against the roof and fell a distance of twenty or twenty-five feet to the roof of a frame structure in the rear of the building.

He was found unconscious by rescuers, who hastened to his side. Mr. Innis was carried to the Hargrove & Mallin drug store where an examination showed that no bones were broken. His left shoulder was dislocated and two deep cuts were found on his face. He was badly bruised but the injuries were not serious and he was removed to his home in a short time.

Innis started his ascension at 9:10 o'clock and when but a short distance in the air the crowd was startled to hear him yell, "I am coming down." The balloon seemed to be turning over and for an instant rested lightly on the roof of the Helm building. Suddenly the big air bag arose and floated through the air. It was then seen that Mr. Innis was not with the balloon. People in the alley back of the Cox store heard the dull thud of his body striking the roof and called to him, but received no answer. Mr. Innis was found with his left hand to his head and for a time it was thought he was fatally hurt.

The structure on which he fell was formerly the kitchen of the Conroy restaurant and the roof is between twenty and twenty-five feet below the roof of the building proper. Mr. Innis was to have given a display of fireworks from the balloon. The fireworks were found by his side on the roof. The accident is said to have been due to a defective balloon. A large hole was found in the top of the balloon and enough heat is supposed to have escaped to make it impossible to carry a passenger. The balloon landed near Fifth street and the Pennsylvania railway.

CLOUDS DO NOT DETER PEOPLE

Crowds at Red Men's Fourth Celebration Are Big Despite Inclement Weather.

3000 PEOPLE AT FAIR GROUND

Throng on Streets Last Night Estimated to be Largest Ever Gathered Here.

Even though the weather was not of the made-to-order variety, the Red Men's Fourth of July celebration was a pronounced success, if the crowds are to be taken as any criterion.

Last night the crowd on the downtown streets was the largest ever congregated on the streets of Rushville. The public square was thronged with people, and traffic was at a standstill. The crowd for the day's program at the fair ground was a revelation.

Lowering clouds all day and rain all morning served to diminish the crowd by more than half, it is estimated. Even at that people began to go to the fair ground early, and it is believed that more than three thousand enjoyed the program. The I. & C. hauled twenty-three hundred people to and from the ground.

The crowd was entertained last night with a display of fireworks, a parade, band concert and balloon ascension. The Arlington and Rushville bands furnished the music. Several gayly bedecked automobiles were in the parade and several children, arrayed in Indian costume appropriate to the Red Men's day, participated.

The Red Men had charge of the only refreshment stand on the ground and were busy all day. The large steer that was roasted and given away to people who attended the celebration did not last long. Many people took advantage of the celebration to take their dinners and enjoy the day visiting old friends.

The number of visitors that expected to come in on the excursions over the Big Four and Pennsylvania was diminished by the inclement weather. Not more than a hundred Rush county exiles in Madison county came down to enjoy the day. They expected to turn the day into a homecoming for themselves and bring a crowd of at least five hundred people. The crowd from the south over the Big Four was small as was that from Columbus and Shelbyville over the Pennsylvania.

The throng on the streets last night was good natured and happy. Although the balloon ascension of John Innis was a great disappointment, the general opinion was expressed that it was very fortunate that Innis was not hurt more or perhaps killed.

CAPT. COOK WILL LEAVE RUSHVILLE

Army Will Preach Farewell
Sermon Sunday.

IS SENT TO CLAY CITY, IND.

Cook desires to thank the people of Rushville for their support of the undertakings he has conceived and worked out.

CANNON CRACKER FRIGHTENS HORSE

Police Search For Youngster Who Was Reckless and Almost Caused Disastrous Runaway.

BUGGY DAMAGED; HORSE HURT

John Williams, 633 West Ninth street had the police on the trail last evening of an unknown young farmer, who by his reckless throwing of a big cannon cracker, almost caused a disastrous runaway. The police were unable to locate him, as they had nothing more than a slight description of him.

Williams was driving in from the fair ground. As he approached the corner of Main and Second streets a youngster in the buggy just ahead of him, tossed a large cannon cracker out under Williams' horse, frightening it badly. The horse lunged and plunged into another buggy, tearing off a wheel and otherwise damaging it. The horse was finally quieted, but for a time it appeared that the animal would never be controlled. Williams' horse was badly hurt. The police never learned the name of the man whose buggy was damaged.

NATIVE OF THIS COUNTY EXPIRES

James Moore, Age 42, Sheriff of Shelby County, Dies of Neuralgia of Heart.

FATAL ATTACK ON FOURTH

Deceased Official Born and Reared in Rush—Lived Here Until Ten Years Ago.

James Moore, age forty-two, sheriff of Shelby county and a native of this county, died yesterday while sitting in a chair at the county jail residence in Shelbyville. He became ill last Tuesday with neuralgia of the heart, as he was preparing to arrest Walter Knight, charged with wife desertion.

Following his first attack he had shown such improvement that it was believed his illness would be only temporary, and his death came as a shock to his friends and relatives.

Wednesday he was much better and the attending physician said he felt no alarm unless there should be a second attack. The turn for the worse came yesterday morning and the sheriff passed away as he sat in a chair in his room. With him at the time was his deputy, Henry Terry, but the end came before Mr. Terry could get a physician.

The Shelby county coroner, Dr. M. M. Wells of Fairland was called and took the oath of office as sheriff. He will serve till the county commissioners appoint his successor. The appointment will likely be made Saturday.

Mr. Moore had been sheriff since January 1, 1911, and was sure of re-nomination this fall by the Democrats, as no one else had announced as a candidate for the office as sheriff. He had never married, but had had his romance.

A few years ago a friend twitted him about his bashfulness and his apparent fear of women. The sheriff, a man of splendid physique, turned from him with tears in his eyes, saying softly, "I had a sweetheart once, but she died, and I have never been able to find one to fill her place."

Mr. Moore was born and reared in this county and had been a resident of Shelby county only ten years. He is survived by his father, Andrew Moore of Arlington, a brother, William Moore of Milroy, three sisters, Mrs. Lewis McMichael, Mrs. Jefferson Turner and Mrs. Henry Turner, and an uncle, the Rev. Samuel Moore, all living in Rush county.

The deceased was a member of the Owls at Indianapolis, the Odd Fellows at Arlington and the Red Men at Shelbyville.

All three of these orders attended the funeral at the late residence at two o'clock this afternoon. The Shelby county officials attended in a body. The Rev. H. N. Spear of the Shelbyville First Baptist church delivered the funeral oration.

Following the services the casket will remain at the residence until evening when it will be sent here on the six-fifteen o'clock Pennsylvania train, thence to the home of his father.

A second funeral service will be held at the chapel in East Hill cemetery at two o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Lydy of Gwynneville officiating. The interment will be made in the East Hill cemetery.

OVERTURNED LAMP

Two Children Burned to Death in Home at Redkey.

Redkey, Ind., July 5.—Two small children of Mrs. Thomas Murphy were burned to death here in a fire which partly destroyed the home. An older child escaped. The dead are a boy four years old and a girl six years old. Mrs. Murphy was absent from home at the time of the fire. She had left the children asleep with a lighted lamp in the room. It is supposed the lamp was overturned. The fire was discovered by a neighbor, who was attracted by the screams of one of the children. He rescued the little girl through a window, but she was so badly burned she died in a few minutes. The boy was burned to death in bed. The fire department saved the house.

Mrs. Lela Love, wife of Wiley Love, a farmer living near Coven, Ga., says: "I have taken Foley Kidney Pills and find them to be all you claim for them. They gave me almost instant relief when my kidneys were sluggish and inactive. I can cheerfully recommend them to all sufferers from kidney troubles." F. B. Johnson & Co.

IDEAL SILO

Do you know that the cheapest and best Silo and the one that has stood the test for fifteen years, and in the community where they are used, they will not use anything else, is the Silo that the farmer can get at the lumber yard; buy the lumber and cement and have it constructed the same as he would if he were building a house or barn. It is substantial, strong, air proof, cemented on the inside with no wood exposed on the inside and no hoops or iron bands on outside that require loosening or tightening according to the conditions of the weather.

These Silos are being used wherever introduced almost exclusively and there is no patent or commission men to pay, you simply go to the lumber yard, buy your lumber the same as you would to build a house. We will furnish you free of charge a blue print plan and specifications and any carpenter or person handy with tools can put up a Silo.

We can furnish you any number of references, including Van Camp Packing Co., who have two very large ones near Martinsville and Mr. Mason, Supt., Polks Milk Receiving Station at Mooresville, Ind., both of which have large Dairy interests and have had experience with all kinds of Silos.

If you are contemplating building a Silo, it will pay you to investigate the frame and cement plastered Silo. We made a special trip to Martinsville and Mooresville for that purpose and saw quite a number, some of which had been in use for several years, and have no hesitance in saying that we believe that they are the best Silo made and that you will be of the same opinion when you have seen them.

Call at office and see specification. Yours truly, THE PINNELL & TOMPKIN CO. Rushville, Ind.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles.

Who does not know the value of Sage and Sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, Sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than Sage and Sulphur, if properly prepared.

The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put out an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for keeping the hair and scalp in clean, healthy condition.

If your hair is losing its color or constantly coming out, or if you are troubled with dandruff or dry, itchy scalp, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, use it according to the simple directions, and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in the appearance of your hair.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

LET US SHOW YOU NO-RIM-CUT TIRES

You are undoubtedly convinced that you should use No-Rim-Cut tires. Every motorist has read about No-Rim-Cut tires again and again in the magazines and newspapers. You have read how the 10 per cent oversize and No-Rim-Cut features cut tire bills in two. You have wanted the tires. They are here now. Let us show you.

NO-RIM-CUT FEATURE

No-Rim-Cut tires have six tapes of 126 braided wires in the base, making the base absolutely unstretchable. Nothing can force the tire out of the rim channel. A hooked base is not necessary to hold the No-Rim-Cut tire on. The hooked side of the rings are turned away from the tire. Then the tire, when deflated, rests on the rounded side of the rings. Rim-cutting is impossible.

10 PER CENT OVERSIZEGOOD YEAR

When a car is overloaded the tires get that extra strain. That hastens breakdowns—means blowouts. No-Rim-Cut tires are made 10 per cent oversize to provide for overload. The construction allows that.

That oversize means 10 per cent more air—10 per cent more carrying capacity. That oversize saves all that overloading costs.

Consider these features and what they save the motorists. No-Rim-Cut tires cost no more than standard clincher tires. Why shouldn't you adopt No-Rim-Cut tires. Come and see them and you will.

THE NOSE A FILTER TO STRAIN THE AIR

Catarrh Clogged Nose Breeding Place for Germs.

The nostrils are perfect "air filters" and, when kept in clean, healthy state, strain every bit of air we breathe, catching all dust particles, foreign matter and germs. The air is full of germs. You cannot dodge them, but you can safe-guard yourself against catarrh and other diseases contracting in the process of breathing by keeping the nostrils clean and healthy. Catarrh germs will sometimes get in their work, and you may mistake the symptoms for an ordinary cold.

Don't take any chances. If you have a stuffed up feeling in the head, or if your throat is sore or filled with phlegm, just grease the nostrils with a little Ely's Cream Balm, draw the pure, aromatic fumes back in the head, and you will be astonished at the effect. In a few minutes you will feel a loosening up in the head, the nasty discharge will soon be stopped, the soreness gone, and you will feel a sense of genuine relief.

Ely's Cream Balm not only wards off catarrh, but will quickly cure even a chronic, longstanding case of catarrh. Suffrage Leader Establishes Summer Quarters at Newport.

Newport, R. I., July 5.—With the arrival of Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont here this city is evidently to become the suffrage center this summer. Mrs. Belmont has begun arranging for a big suffrage meeting to be held here in August.

THE NOMINEE TAKES CHARGE OF CAMPAIGN

Committee Quick to Recognize a New Leader.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 5.—Breaking out of a crowd on the lawn of the Little White House, Norman E. Mack, president of the Democratic national committee, announced: "The Democratic national committee will meet in New York city July 15."

"Hold on," interrupted Roger Sullivan of Illinois, "Chicago would be better."

"No," said Mr. Mack. "It's all settled; New York, noon, July 15."

"If you would come to French Lick," said Thomas Taggart of Indiana, "I'll pay all expenses," and then Mr. Taggart paused. "Say, Norman," he whispered, jerking his head in the direction of the big front veranda of the summer home of New Jersey's chief executive, "hadn't you better speak to him about it?"

"That's so," said Mr. Mack of New York, with a start, and he straightway dashed up the steps. Five minutes later Mr. Mack made another announcement: "The Democratic national committee will meet at Chicago at the Congress hotel, at noon, July 15."

This was the recognition of Woodrow Wilson, governor of New Jersey, nominee for the presidency, as not only the standard bearer, but the real leader, the boss of the Democratic party of the United States. At that time also the committee will choose an executive committee which will be an active advisory board.

"He's the boss," said Thomas Taggart of Indiana, "he's the boss now and he will continue to be the boss for the next four years, no matter how the election goes."

TERSE TELEGRAMS

The Lorimer case will come up in the senate tomorrow.

According to present plans Senator Dixon will remain at the head of the third party organization.

Prince Adelbert, the kaiser's third son, is reported to be in love with Princess Olga, the czar's daughter.

Frank Gotch, the wrestler, downed Joseph Smekal, the Bohemian champion, in two straight falls, at Chicago.

Lieutenant Baron Paterno, who got a life sentence for murdering his mistress, the Princess Trigonta, at Rome, refuses to take any food and appears to be determined to die of hunger.

A Cantonese Chinaman made an attempt on the life of Sir Francis May, the new British governor of Hong Kong, but because of his poor aim with a revolver, the governor was unhurt.

Prince Ludovic Pignatelli, reputed a distant relative of the king of Spain, shot himself in the heart as a consequence, it is said, of disappointment in his suit for the hand of an American girl.

It is prophesied in London that little will be heard of the Irish home rule bill until after adjournment in August, but it will be urged to its passage by a drastic application of closure in October.

It is reported that General Orozco has withdrawn all but about 2,000 of his troops from the vicinity of the city of Chihuahua and is moving the major portion of his forces toward the state of Sonora.

One man was shot to death, another was shot probably fatally and two others seriously when an angry mob of miners attempted to storm the lockup at Fayette City, Pa., and take a prisoner from the police.

ANOTHER CALL FOR SOLDIERS

Troops Are Being Rushed to El Paso.

BIG BATTLE SEEMS IMMINENT

Driven Out of Chihuahua, Orozco's Rebel Forces Are Fleeing For Juarez, Where a Desperate Free-For-All Is Expected—In Addition to Federal Soldiers to Guard Lines, Full Force of Texas Guard Is Under Arms.

El Paso, July 5.—In large numbers rebel troops are reported rushing toward the border from Bachimba. General Orozco, the rebel leader, has abandoned Chihuahua and a desperate free-for-all fight is expected at Juarez. In consequence the entire national guard of Texas has been ordered under arms and the United States government has issued orders for additional troops to proceed to the border at this point at once. Orozco has decided he cannot hold Chihuahua, the capital of the insurrection party, and all his troops are foraging on the American boundary. Fighting at Juarez seems at best only a few hours away and that will spell damage to Americans on this side of the line.

HEADED FOR SONORA

This Is the Rich Prize Orozco Now Has in Mind.

Chihuahua, July 5.—The battle of Bachimba resulted in the defeat of the rebels. They are now in hasty retreat to the north, Juarez being their present objective point. This, however, will probably only serve as their headquarters, as Orozco, their leader, declares the campaign will be transferred at once to Sonora, and the only way left open to the rebels to reach that rich and prosperous state is through Juarez. As they come north on the Mexican Central the rebels will destroy all bridges and it will take the federals a month to repair the track and follow.

Meantime Orozco plans to have captured the entire state of Sonora, which contains but few more than 1,000 federals all told. In Sonora the rebels will find a state as yet unharmed by war and looting, with many rich plantations to furnish food for man and beast.

The casualties in killed and wounded on both sides in the Bachimba battle will not be over 200.

DASHED TO DEATH

Aeronaut's Fall Gave Spectators Sensation Not Down on the Bills.

Belleville, N. J., July 5.—In full view of 20,000 persons gathered in Hillside park, Tom Moore, who has done parachute drops at the park for the past five seasons, fell from the bar of his parachute yesterday afternoon and was dashed to death 1,200 feet below. He had been sitting on the bar of the parachute and in some way lost his balance. Moore was twenty-five years of age and was unmarried.

Hiccoughing Proved Fatal

Logansport, Ind., July 5.—Hiccoughing for the last five days, James McGowan, aged forty-eight, died at St. Joseph's hospital. Electricity and every known remedy was tried to stop the hiccoughing, but without avail. As a last and desperate resort physicians exploded a giant firecracker in his room in hopes of frightening him and stopping the hiccoughs. They succeeded, but the relief was only temporary.

Twin Sisters Drowned

Lawrenceburg, Ind., July 5.—Milly and Mabel Garrett, twin sisters, sixteen years old, were drowned in Tanner's creek while attempting to ford the swollen stream with horse and runaway. The swift current turned the vehicle over in midstream and the girls were carried nearly three miles from the scene of the accident. They were the daughters of Boone Garrett, a wealthy farmer of Manchester township.

The volume of domestic commerce on the great lakes during May of the present year shows a marked improvement when compared with that of May, 1911, according to reports received by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor.

CAUSES LEADING TO TREASURY SCANDAL

Dr. Andrew Just Would Go to the Convention.

Washington, July 5.—The sensation of the day in the capital continues to be the resignation of Dr. A. Platt Andrew as second assistant secretary of the treasury, and the charges he made against Secretary MacVeagh.

Rumors to the effect that Dr. Andrew's resignation was called for as a result of his having attended the Chicago convention against the wishes of the secretary practically have been confirmed by treasury officials.

According to this information Dr. Andrew had endeavored for some days to have a conference with the secretary on this and other subjects without success, and finally, early in June, he sent in a note saying that he had been asked to render advice concerning the platform, and since he was personally desirous of attending the convention, he would do so, leaving on a certain date, if it was not against the wishes of the secretary.

Nearly two weeks later he received from the secretary word that he would be expected to remain on duty. Mr. Andrew is understood to have replied that it was too late to change his plans, which he followed out. This is said to have irritated Secretary MacVeagh, who presented the subject directly to the president in the form of a recommendation that Dr. Andrew should be dismissed forthwith.

What Mr. MacVeagh Says.

Lancaster, Mass., July 5.—Franklin MacVeagh, secretary of the treasury, who is visiting here, says that Dr. A. Platt Andrew did not resign voluntarily, but was asked to resign and asked repeatedly, and that he used every effort and influence possible to get the request for his resignation withdrawn.

The Steam Roller.

"Steam rollers" are not popular now. The time has gone by when the man who was flattened out under their clanking cylinders would climb on the apparatus and get his revenge by flattening out the next fellow.

Nevertheless, it is amusing to see how some of us who cherish our political individuality so sacredly will meekly lie down under the steam roller of daily life and say we like it.

Take the case of fashion, and without appealing to the eccentricities of womankind to support the claim, a man may disclaim violently on the street corner against the crushing out of individual judgment, by the party machine. Yet he has just paid down $2.50 to $5.00 for a new straw hat, when his old one could have been freshened by a cleaner so as to give every appearance of neatness, for the sum of 25 cents, which would have left him $2.25 or more with which to replace his small boy's ragged trousers, or put in the bank, comments the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

Why? The steam roller of style. And yet it is probable that the makers of hats in the year 1911 produced just as good an article as in the year 1912. The purpose of a hat is to screen the head from the rays of the sun and from the drafts of cool evening air. It is hardly likely that any greater triumph in that line had been created during the past twelve months than existed before.

And the art of bridding straw is ancient. Our grandmothers a century ago turned out a cleanly finished artistic head covering. It is not likely that a higher range of beauty in hat building has been acquired during a twelve month.

The funny thing about it is the vagueness of the public idea of style. Not one man in twenty could tell, without looking over a crop whether wide strands of straw or narrow strands are taking their turn under the steam roller this year.

Take the question whether you will call your noon-day meal "dinner" or "luncheon." People who work in cities and live at some distance commonly have their heavy meal at night and to call it "dinner" is the simple, unpretentious thing.

If you live in the country, work close by your home, you may prefer a heavy old-fashioned meal at noon. Yet when the summer boarders call your redundant noon-day spread a "luncheon," and your simple bread and milk supper a "dinner," you echo, to show your familiarity with metropolitan ways.

The steam roller again! The reader will apply plenty of other instances.

Story of Prosperity.

For sixteen years the Republican party has held the presidency, and has just made its nominations for another four years, paints out the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. When called back in 1896 to take control of national affairs the country was suffering from profound business distress, and the only Democrat elected president in fifty years had been repudiated by his party which had started in hot pursuit of the free silver chimera. The Republican party in that crisis promised to make all the currency of the country as good as gold, and to keep it up to that world-wide standard. It pledged itself, as a test of party efficiency, to restore prosperity. How amply it has fulfilled the obligations is in plain sight.

The great improvement in national conditions began as soon as the Republican party was given authority in all branches of government, which it retained until the present democratic house met in March of last year. In the decade between 1900 and 1910, covered by the latest census, there was uninterrupted a Republican congress as well as a republican president. A great story of progress is told in the figures of this period. Population increased from 76,000,000, the wealth of the country from $88,000,000 to $107,000,000,000 the circulation of money from $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 deposits in savings banks from $6,000,000 to $9,000,000 and the annual value of farm products from $3,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000. Manufacturing and mining advanced in a similar way. Yet in the decade the public debt decreased, and the interest on it was lowered from $33,000,000 a year to $21,000,000.

These are but a few of scores of large facts that have a like eloquence. Yet there is a clamor, an upheaval of demagoguery that demands more "progressiveness." That word, in its honest meaning, is one upon which the Republican party can well afford to be tried, feeling entirely assured that the party can not be found wanting in any respect. Some political writers contend that there is too much prosperity, and that this condition breeds a spirit of reckless disorganization. At all events the Republican party can say that its long term of responsibility has been identified with good times and advancement to a degree never known in the history of any other nation.

Sam Sanderson Says:

That he will never re another man on the Fourth, because it's not safe and sane.

Value of Shade Trees.

It isn't the man who can work out a thing practically that counts in this world; it is the thing that is practically worth while that we are all seeking. For a long time we have looked at shade trees along the road as something that appealed to the esthetic side of our nature. We have viewed them as ornaments that added to the picturesque scene. Now comes the practical man and points out that they are not alone ornaments, but they are determining factors in saving the roadways.

As a result the New York state highway commission has ordered 150,000 red oak seedlings and 150,000 poplar seedlings to be planted along the highways of the state this year. It is the purpose to line under control of the commission with trees.

In practice the highway commission has found that the roads shaded by trees are less subject to deterioration, and that those roads in woody sections are kept in repair at a minimum cost, while those in the open require the maximum. Hence the trees as a part of road building.

It is true that on mud road trees are all wrong, that they shade the road too much and prevent it drying out in time. And it is as a result of these early roads that many states still have laws forbidding the planting of trees along a roadway and even going so far as to forbid the growing of hedges. But on a gravel or macadam road the conditions are reversed and trees are being found an important factor in keeping good roads good.

Haying.

This phase of agriculture has lost both poetry and good fellowship of recent years. Gone is the swinging swish of the hand mowers in the tall grass. The toneless complaint of the mowing machine never has the musical key note of a limber scythe iron.

Moreover, there was a Homeric competition among individual hand mowers that was an Olympian event in the country side. As the mowers whetted their scythes, apparently absorbed merely by the promptings of industry, really the athletic motive to out-wind a neighbor was the grim motive of their hearts. Successfully accomplished, it was the talk of the grocery stores for weeks.

The gradual introduction of alien laborers as farm hands has taken the color out of field work on many farms. The American farm hand never lost himself wholly in the pay envelope.

Neighborhood rivalries and rural waggerly filled the hay fields, while young and old were cheered by long drafts of ginger water, not to mention other reflections of the ungodly.

Today Jonathan Smith is adding up figures in the metropolitan office while Stanislaus Czelusniacz, in snub nosed and sullen silence, drives the hay tedder smoking his stubby black pipe, and dreaming of soup bones for supper.

There is always more or less reason for the cry against "the machine," because any organization becomes more or less a machine in its action, but the supposition that to defeat one machine is to get rid of machines or that the one will not be followed by another, is contrary to all human experience. So the cry against bossism has always more or less reason in it, but to get rid of one boss as a rule is merely to substitute another. The liability to machine methods and bossism is always the greater, however, where an organization is dominated by one personality. Whatever men may really believe about these things, let them not imagine that they can implicitly follow any one man to the exclusion of either machinery or bossism. On the contrary they are likely to have more rather than less of these objectionable experiences.

Much is being said about development of the rural community, and undoubtedly the girls can be persuaded to stay on the farm if some arrangement can be made by which they can acquire $50 Paris hats.

Not merely should the conventions denounce Morgan, Belmont, and Ryan, but the action of the Predatory Powers in keeping the offices open when there is a ball game.

No matter how loud the Democratic Donkey may bray, or how high he rises on his hind legs, he never break the rope that ties him to the Tiger cage.

In April the politician shakes hands with you, in July he inquires for your wife, and by October he will be solicitous for the welfare of your children.

The government clerks are having to wait for their pay, but waiting is a phase of effort with which they are quite familiar.

It is easy for even a great man to mistake his own personal ambition for the interests of the country.

Spite of the price, you still keep buying bones called "chops."

Editorialesettes.

A band concert every week would rest well.

"Marshall Gets to Run For Vice," says a headline in Columbus Republican. We feel sure it was unintentional.

We had never thought of Tom in that light. Sure enough, it was he who signed the Sunday base ball law and the law which brought saloons back to many a city, town and hamlet in Indiana.

A fashion sheet says: "It is well to have the form and the gown melt together." Just give summer a little time. It will have to get around a hundred before this hint can be followed effectively.

If the plutocrats will wear overalls and battered old hats, it is probably perfectly safe for them to appear on the streets.

Some Democratic newspaper has suggested the slogan, "We'll Win With Wilson." We refer this organ to the late lamented State campaign of 1908, and advise against such a slogan if winning is what they are looking for.

In attempting to infuse into our half dozen adherents the proper respect for peach cobbler, we, too, feel as though we were standing at Armageddon battling for the Lord.

The team of Smiths from Shelbyville, better known as the Bruce Ramblers, kicked about a "raw deal" as Shelbyville teams usually do.

Swat the Fly

One of the characteristics of the present-day campaign for the prevention of disease is the homely, practical way in which facts are being placed before the public. Many of our state boards—through bulletins—are doing excellent work in this direction. As a result, some popular ideas are being sadly shaken. The little housefly, for instance, has been for years the subject of household poetry, and has been referred to as the harmless and innocent companion of men. The bedbug, on the contrary, has been looked on with speechless aversion. He has no social standing. Even the mention of his name has not been considered good form in our best circles, while the least suspicion of a speaking acquaintance with him has been regarded with horror. In the May number of the Bulletin of the North Carolina State Board of Health, Dr. Cyrus Thompson, in an article on "Flies and Filth," says: "Now as a matter of unprejudiced fact, barring the sting of the bite and the odor of the encounter, the bedbug is a much more eligible companion than the house-fly, whether of bed or of board. But if bedbugs, comparatively cleanly of habit, crawled all over the plates, table and food just as the house-fly crawls, fresh from the foulest filth of every pestilential kind, who could eat or even sit at the table for a moment? I am not making a plea for the elevation of the social status of my nocturnal friend, who loves darkness rather than light; but I am declaring that his deeds are not nearly so evil and destructive as those of the house-fly." Put this statement before every American housekeeper, and the doom of the typhoid fly is sealed, says The Journal of the American Medical Association. The bedbug has been, for generations, the abomination of the housewife, and the object of her unrelenting warfare. Once convince American women the fly is more loathsome and dangerous than the bedbug, and the ravages of this typhoid-breeder and filth distributor will be over.

What Our Members Are Talking About

HIKES TO THE WOODS.

(Fort Wayne News.)

Ex-Senator Beveridge has gone to the Maine woods, and it is said that he proposes to spend the entire summer there. Whether he will emerge when Colonel Roosevelt formally organizes his new party, if he ever does, is not recited in the press dispatches, but there are those who are inclined to doubt it. Mr. Beveridge was about the colonel's headquarters in Chicago a great deal during the late convention, but his appearance was not that of a man radiantly and supernally happy. On the contrary, he looked very much as though he wanted to bite himself. And among those who know him best it was quietly whispered that his dismal front was not exactly due to the triumphant tactics of the Taftites. On the contrary, rumor had it that distress was his portion because Colonel Roosevelt had seen fit to relegate him to a position of trifling consequence about headquarters, a method of recognition that was nothing short of an affront. It was a careless bow where salaam was to have been expected. Hadley, a younger and less experienced man, was made floor leader; Record, an unheard of nondescript from down east, was spokesman-in-chief; the bumptious Jimmie Garfield was this, Giff Pinchot was that, and Boss Flinn was something else. Mr. Beveridge was merely a pivate in the ranks, and he naturally didn't like it. It did not comport with his consequence, his ability, or his dignity, and it rather got his goat, so to speak. And now he has gone to the Maine woods to commune with nature and get the bile out of his system.

Mr Beveridge was a pioneer in the sort of progress which Colonel Roosevelt now affects long before Colonel Roosevelt even flirted with it and no doubts feels that the colonel has stolen his thunder without making a just and suitable return. It is difficult for Mr. Beveridge to be a follower, even a chief-of-staff. But to march as a private—well, those who know him must smile perforce.

FOURTH OF JULY LESSON.
Greensburg News: Judge Wickens passed judgment of $7,500 in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Elizabeth Burns vs. Raymond Gottschalk, which was the verdict recently returned by the jury when the case was tried here. The case was one for personal injuries. Miss Burns lost the sight of an eye when Mr. Gottschalk a year ago on the evening previous to the Fourth of July, threw a giant fire cracker at her which exploded throwing fragments into her eye.

SINGS PRAISE OF JAMES E. WATSON

Vincennes Commercial Says Rushville Man's Ability as Statesman Displayed at Convention.

ASTUTE PARLIAMENTARIAN

When Antagonism and Bitterness Was Most Pronounced, he Exhibited Kindest Spirit.

In the course of an article concerning the recent Republican convention, the Vincennes Commercial pays the following tribute to James E. Watson:

The floor leader chosen was James E. Watson of Indiana, one of the most astute diplomats and parliamentarians in the country. Had it not been for this action on the part of the administration forces endless confusion in the convention would have ensued, together no doubt with complete disintegration and rout. In fact, we do not believe that the convention could have transacted business owing to the heated animosity on both sides, had it not been for the masterly guiding hand of James E. Watson.

He made all the motions, directed all the rulings and was acting chairman behind presiding officer Root. Mr. Watson's conduct was inoffensive towards the Roosevelt wing. In the excitement of spirited debate he was the coolest. When antagonism reached its height and bitterness was most pronounced Mr. Watson showed the kindest spirit toward all concerned.

The Roosevelt forces were represented by Herbert A. Hadley, governor of Missouri, whom they selected for their floor leader. Mr. Hadley and Mr. Watson were old friends and the former realized the seriousness of the situation, but Mr. Watson at once showed him that kindly spirit and co-operation which at once set at rest any uneasiness that Governor Hadley might have felt.

In fact Mr. Watson helped Mr. Hadley instead of hindering him and the best of good feeling was manifested between these two gallant comrades. Standing arm in arm at times, facing over a thousand delegates and 20,000 spectators each contested and contended for the cause they represented, but displaying towards each other the strongest and friendliest feeling.

Mr. Watson's ability as a statesman was shown in the manner in which he handled his difficult position. Firmly established on the side of organization against the chaos and confusion which seemed rampant in the convention, he gently and firmly directed affairs until the work of the convention was fully and completely established.

But for him and his firm but diplomatic direction, the Republican organization and party today might be hopeless chaos. At one time during the convention the tendency was so strong that Watson and Hadley could have made up our national ticket and it might have been the better part of wisdom had it been that way. When the people understand the motives, the inspiration and the real patriotism behind all this great work, they will then conclude that it was principle and not selfish motives for which that great Republican convention was contending.

HIS WHISKERS SINGED.

Andersonville Herald: While attempting to generate a gasoline stove Wednesday morning, John S. Marshall got the can of wood alcohol too near the fire and the alcohol exploded, tearing the can to pieces and throwing the burning fluid over John. He was lucky in escaping with slight burns and singed whiskers.

A man never fools himself by trying to make others believe he thinks certain things when he knows himself that he doesn't.

IS FERTILE FIELD FOR SECRET ORDERS

Indiana Sees New Crop Every Year, Latest Being Ancient Order of Sphinx.

ORDER OF LIONS IS NEW ONE

The movement for the organization of secret societies is gaining each year, and Indiana seems to be a very fertile field as each year sees one or more new societies organized in Hoosierdom. The latest addition to the list is the Ancient Order of Sphinx, which has been organized at Fort Wayne. The lessons taught by the new fraternity are valor, justice and purity. The order is unique in that it is founded on the Sphinx, one of the mysterious wonders of the world. The Sphinx, consisting of an enormous figure, whose human head and lion body typify a union of intelligence and strength, was hewn from the natural rock of the edge of a plateau facing the east on the desert sands near Gizeh, Egypt. It was planned and formed by Chephren, the son of Sheops, the builder of the first pyramid, about 2,800 years before the Christian era, as an abiding place for his soul, as a resting place for his body, and as a monument to his reign.

NATIONAL FRAT MEET IN AUGUST

Kappa Alpha Phi's Annual Convention Will be Held in Alexandria This Year.

RUSHVILLE HAS A CHAPTER

Four Hundred Members Will be Attracted by Business and Social Sessions.

The eleventh annual convention of the Kappa Alpha Phi fraternity will convene in Alexandria, August 28, 29 and 30th, says the Alexandria Times Tribune. Twenty-three chapters from over the state located at Muncie, Ft. Wayne, Greencastle, Bloomington, Anderson, Huntington, Kokomo, Tipton, Richmond, New Castle, Logansport, Greensburg, Brazil, Terre Haute, Indianapolis, Rushville, and Greensburg will send representatives to the convention. The three day session will open early Wednesday morning and continue until the following Saturday morning. Over four hundred young men will enjoy Alexandria's hospitality during the three days. National officers of the fraternity are: Chas. E. Pask, Ft. Wayne, president; A. L. Leazenby, Terre Haute, vice-president; Carl Ford, Kokomo, secretary; K. J. Sullivan, Alexandria, treasurer; Carl V. Wagner, Logansport, recorder. All the national officers will attend the convention.

The local chapter will complete the three days program in a short time and the entertainment of the visitors is expected to surpass any convention given by the fraternity in past years. For the accommodation of the visiting delegations many homes about the city will be thrown open. Alexandria is centrally located among the twenty-three chapters and for this reason a large attendance is expected.

With Mayor J. H. Edwards delivering the principal address of the evening, the booster meeting in the club rooms last night was a decided success. Frat men from the Anderson, Muncie, Tipton and New Castle chapters were present and gave short talks before the meeting. Letters were read from alumni members of the local fraternity residing in other cities who were unable to attend the booster meeting. A majority of the alumni members living in other cities have sent word that they will attend the convention.

SENT TO JAIL

Logansport Saloonist Held to Be in Contempt of Court.

Logansport, Ind., July 5.—W. E. Brown is the first proprietor of a saloon here to be given a jail sentence for violation of the liquor laws. Brown was convicted on a charge of indirect contempt of court and was fined $25 and sentenced to thirty days in the county jail. Brown was arrested on a charge of selling liquor after closing hours, and John Pickle was named as the principal witness. Pickle disappeared and was arrested Monday in Marion. He was brought here and said that Brown gave him $8 in cash and bought him a ticket to Chicago with instructions to stay away.

Borrowing Books.

The practice of borrowing books is essentially an evil one in those who can afford to own books, and public libraries serve to encourage and foster the evil, though they are of very great value to the poor student. We think that, upon general principles, people should own the books they read. We believe heartily in buying books, reading books and keeping books. As a reference a public library serves an admirable purpose, and in many instances it is of undoubted advantage to the people. But one that would be surely profited by books should own them if he can, and should have them for companions continually around him.—Eugene Field.

People who make the most mistakes are usually those who do the most things worth while.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR JULY 7

MALIGNANT UNBELIEF.

GOLDEN TEXT.—This is the judgment, that light is come into the world and men loved the darkness rather than the light: for their works were evil.—John 3:19.

There are two kinds of unbelief depicted in this lesson, the malignant, cruel, vindictive unbelief of the Pharisees; and the incredulity, the amazement, the unbelief of the family and friends of Jesus. There are three natural divisions of this lesson; first v. 20, 21) the unbelief of his friends who, beholding his marvelously busy life, so busy as not to take time to eat, concluded he must of necessity be insane on the subject of religion, as no other explanation would suffice. Secondly (v. 22-30) the malignant, malicious, blind unbelief of the representatives of the rulers in Jerusalem who had come down to "investigate" the popular Galilee prophet, that they might find wherewith to "accuse him." Third (v. 31-35) the unbelief of those his nearest of kin who also sought to restrain and to turn him aside if possible from his arduous labors. We have in this first section another of those wonderful gospel pictures, just a touch, but so graphic, of the eagerness of the multitudes to see and hear Jesus. Simply to hear him was enough to draw together a crowd. Yet notice his response, he would not even pause to refresh himself but the compassion of a great mission compelled him to minister unto them. What cared he for rest or refreshment?

Miracles Explained.

The multitude had studied Jesus as he performed his miracles and accounted him to be the Messiah (Matt. 12:23), but the Pharisees were not then willing to acknowledge him, for that would be to condemn themselves. However, here are these miracles that demand an explanation, and we must remember that these men came with a predetermined motive, viz., that they might find wherewith to accuse him (see v. 2 and 6.) Not accepting the plain common sense explanation and his avowed purpose in performing miracles (Mk. 2:10) they gave out that it was by the power of the Prince of Devils, Beelzebub, that Jesus performed his mighty deeds. The utter fallacy of such an accusation is shown by Jesus' reply. He did not upbraid them with anger though their accusation was the utmost limit of malignity. Jesus knew that he must needs endure just such contradictions of sinners (Isa. 53:3, 4), nevertheless he exposed their folly (v. 23-27). Jesus here gives us a fine example of logic, which is simply unanswerable. No more can a divided kingdom stand, or a divided house stand than for Satan to fight against himself. No more can the thief capture his booty unless he first finds or deceives the guard, than for Jesus to fight Satan and at the same time be his vassal. Satan is a "strong" man (v. 22) and he, Jesus, came to break, to overcome, that power, for he is indeed the stronger one. The subjects of Satan are his slaves. In the revised version we find the correct translation for verse 29. "Whoever shall blaspheme against the Holy Spirit hath never forgiveness, but is guilty of an eternal sin," thus effectually setting at rest any thought of a future probation after our life here upon this earth. If when men love their evil deeds to such an extent that they refuse to walk in the light and resolutely set their faces against the true Light, they commit the last and irremediable sin.

Sons of God by Faith.

Lastly we see the kinkfolk of Jesus, including his mother, seeking to withdraw him from his conflict with the Jerusalem lawyers, or, as has been suggested, if they were among the friends mentioned at the outset seeking to protect him after this interruption by taking him away to a place of rest and quiet. Jesus was, however, not understood by his nearest and dearest kinkfolk; and such has ever been the bitter grief of many of his followers, a grief that is even harder to bear than the denunciation of his enemies with all of their misrepresentation. But he who was reviled and reviled not again, who was led as a lamb to the slaughter, answers not this strange misunderstanding by any flash of anger, but in gentleness rebukes their interference with his plans and points out that his nearest and dearest are those who do his will. Jesus as our Great High Priest is here speaking not as the Son of Mary, but as the Son of Man. The golden text throws wonderful light upon this whole lesson. He, Jesus, the Light, came into the world and we must account for him. Like Pilate, we have him on our hands. If we refuse to walk in the light we have committed the last and the irremediable sin. If we sin willfully after seeing the light, there remains no other, no more, sacrifice for sin. When in order to continue in our evil deeds which cannot stand the presence of the light, we choose rather the darkness and refuse to submit ourselves to the call of the Light, we bring ourselves under condemnation.

Christian Endeavor

TOPIC FOR JULY 7.

The Christian Virtues. VII. Honesty. Rom. 12:9-17. (Consecration Meeting.)

Not every dishonest man goes behind prison bars. There are ways of stealing that cannot be touched by law. We can steal a man's time with impunity. We can steal his reputation and if we are careful no harm can come. We can steal his friends, we can steal his ideas, we can steal his health and his happiness and still be honored as a good citizen by those who do not know. Honesty is not merely a matter of law observance. We need to be honest in our words. Over statement is a fault that is as dangerous as it is common.

We need to be honest in our principles. We should support the causes in which we believe. Conscience should govern our decisions rather than policy. Our honesty should be individual rather than collective. It is easy to be good when the man next door is good also. It is nothing difficult or creditable to be honest merely because public opinion compels honesty. The character that is worth while is the character that can stand alone. Real integrity should not need the prop of other men's views. We need more people who will be honest when no one is looking.

We need to be honest with God. Malachi 3:3 gives a definition of a thief which should give many of us food for thought. Honesty with the Lord's money would seem to be almost a foundation for true honesty with our fellow men. We need more honesty in Christian Endeavor work. The society that votes in members carelessly without explaining fully the obligations imposed by the pledge, is dishonest and is encouraging dishonesty in others. Next Week's Meeting.

Topic: How Much Should a Christian Think of Personal Appearance? 2 Kings 9:30-35; Ps. 45:7-15. Advertise your meeting as a discussion on "How to Be Beautiful." Ask each member to come prepared with some scriptural suggestion for securing good looks.

(1) Verses 20-21—Why did the relatives of Jesus think he was beside himself?

(2) Why does a state of intense religious experience still impress the average man as insanity?

(3) If the preachers who are afflicted with empty pews should become intensely spiritual what effect, if any, would that have upon the size of their congregations?

(4) Verse 22—Where is the scene of this lesson laid?

(5) Are Christians who earn their living by teaching religion liable to backslide in their own souls? Give your reasons.

(6) What reason had these scribes to think that Jesus was possessed with the devil and cast out devils by his power?

(7) What is that dangerous and subtle power in human nature which enables a man to believe almost anything in the line of his interests or prejudices?

(8) Verses 23-26—Why may not Satan cast out a small demon in order to make way for a bigger one?

(9) These scribes admitted the fact of Christ's wonderful miracles; why, therefore, and by what power were they performed?

(10) Why is it that so many men, in spite of the fact that Christ's claim

(11) How do you account for these scribes making such a foolish statement that Christ cast out devils by the power of Beelzebub? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(12) Verse 27—What does Christ propose to do with the devil ("the strong man") in so far as the individual Christian is concerned?

(13) Verses 28-30—In what respect could this sin of the scribes be called a sin against the Holy Ghost?

(14) If a man sins against light, knowledge, and continues to reject the only way of salvation, why is it impossible for him to be forgiven?

(15) As it applies to sinners today, what would you say is the sin against the Holy Ghost which never can be forgiven?

(16) Verses 31-35—What would you think Christ's brethren and his mother wanted of him?

(17) If our most loved friends after the flesh want to keep us back from intense spiritual work, what should be our attitude to them?

(18) Which relations are the holier and happier and why, those after the flesh or those after the spirit?

COUNT OF TURIN

Italian Nobleman Mobbed by a Crowd of Angry Peasants.

Milan, July 5.—While motoring through a village the Count of Turin ran into a cart filled with peasants and overturned it. The peasants retaliated by attacking the royal car and endeavoring to upset it in turn. The automobile was eventually wrecked and the count roughly handled by the angry crowd of peasants, but the gendarmes intervened and he was rescued.

FLYNN LOST HIS HEAD IN FIGHT WITH CHAMP

And Johnson's Title Remains Undisturbed.

Las Vegas, N. M., July 5.—Not because he proved himself the better man in his fight with Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, is Jack Johnson still the champion of the world, but because Flynn lost his head when he had the big fellow on the run, and made it necessary for the police to jump into the ring in the ninth round.

Referee Ed Smith then gave the fight to Johnson, not because of the fouling tactics of Flynn, but because he figured that the black had outpointed the challenger in the rounds that had gone before.

Flynn, boring in at every opportunity, was hammering at the stomach of the champion. And his blows were telling, too. And beginning with the seventh round, the black began to hold. The smile disappeared from his visage. The champion held throughout the eighth. But Flynn, whose strong point has never been calmness, seeing a possible victory, began to fight with his head as well as with the strength of his powerful arms and shoulders. He began to butt. Referee Smith cautioned him time after time. This was the situation when the ninth round dawned.

Flynn bored in and then he lost his head, and instead of fighting he renewed his butting. Suddenly there was a commotion. The police were entering the ring. And once within the ropes the fight was stopped. Pandemonium reigned. No one knew what had happened. The police said the fight could not continue. It was up to the referee to make some decision. He lifted the arm of the black man. The thousands knew that Johnson was still champion of the world. But it was some time before quiet could be restored.

ENDED IN RIOT

Confusion Followed Exciting Moment in Wolgast-Rivers Fight.

Los Angeles, July 5.—Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion, was given the decision over Joe Rivers in their fight at Vernon in the thirteenth round of their fight. Rivers had the best of the fighting much of the way, and the outcome of the fight was unpopular with the record crowd present. Referee Jack Welch gave the decision to Wolgast on a foul, though many believed that Wolgast really fouled Rivers by striking him in the groin at the instant the Mexican landed a blow on Wolgast's jaw that felled him.

In the thirteenth round Wolgast, after hitting Rivers low, fell on him. Rivers's head struck Wolgast in the scrotum and he staggered to his corner, where he fainted. A rattled official rang the gong too soon, and Welch, who was counting Rivers out, is said to have stopped at eight, in the confusion. A near riot followed the end of the fight, but as the principals were hurried away no one was hurt.

HE DISREGARDED FRANTIC SIGNAL

Engineer of Express Blamed for Horrid Wreck.

HE SAYS HE DIDN'T SEE IT

When a Flying Train of Express Cars Was Sent Plunging Past a Dropped Semaphore and a Frantically Signaling Fireman, Passengers in Crack Buffalo Limited of the Lackawanna Line Hadn't a Chance.

Corning, N. Y., July 5.—As the result of a tail-end collision between the crack Buffalo limited of the Lackawanna railroad and a train of express cars, above Gibson Narrows, two miles from this town, forty persons are dead, three so badly hurt that their deaths are expected, and more than fifty are suffering injuries. Trainmen say that this loss of life was caused by the carelessness of the engineer of the express train, who ran at a terrific rate of speed past a frantically signalling flagman and the warning of a dropped semaphore arm, into the passenger train standing still upon the track.

The dead, which filled to overflowing the morgues of the little town, are in many instances so frightfully mangled that identification is almost impossible. The engine of the express train ripped its way through the two day coaches in the rear, killing instantly everyone in them, plowed on through half of a steel Pullman, throwing the sleeping car off the track, and then came to a standstill with the green carpet of the Pullman slung about its pilot. The engineer who is blamed by the authorities for the accident, jumped before the crash came. He sat on a rail, high up on a hill near the scene of the accident, watching in a dazed way the wrecking crews at work.

The Buffalo Limited had Engineer Jack Dennison at the throttle of the first of the two heavy engines that were to bring her up the Gibson cut to Corning. At the Gibson Narrows the click of the semaphore arm warned Dennison that there was trouble ahead. Conductor Horace Staple ran up the track to find a disabled freight train a short distance ahead, standing still. She had a drawhead broken and was stalled.

Dennison left his relay engine and in his own rode on to nose the stranded freight up a siding to leave a clear road to Buffalo. In the meantime the Buffalo limited stood behind her one engine for so long a period that the passengers began to wonder what was keeping them. George Reynolds went out on the back platform to smoke. His wife remained in the car. As he looked back into the smother he heard high up the click of the semaphore dropping a protecting arm behind the standing train. As Mr. Reynolds lunged away his cigarette he glimpsed a flying smokestack a few feet away. He jumped sideways from the platform and went rolling down the embankment unscathed. Ten minutes later Mr. Reynolds was running up and down beside the mass of splinters, steel and broken glass, begging the rescuers to save the life of his wife, pinned beneath tons of wreckage.

The engine that Reynolds had seen from the back platform was that drawing train No. 11, composed of several express cars, which had been made up at Hoboken and which makes the speed of a passenger train. Engineer William Schroeder of Buffalo was at the throttle. He told several witnesses after the wreck that he had seen no flagman and that he had not noticed the semaphore a half mile down the track and only 100 yards behind the stalled passenger train. Italians were working on the track below where the accident happened and came running up, and in a short time the sirens of automobiles were screaming along all the roads from Elmira, Corning and Gibson, bringing aid.

RAMBLERS SHUT OUT BY LOCALS

Shelbyville Team Unable to Hit
"Chick" Avery and Rushville
Won 3 to 0.

GAME PLAYED ON HEAVY FIELD

Only One Man Reached Second Base
For Visitors—Brookville Attraction Here Sunday.

The Bruce-Ramblers of Shelbyville rambled into town yesterday morning and rambled back home last night taking with them the short end of a 3 to 0 score. The continued rain of the morning made a forenoon game impossible and the only contest of the day was played on a very heavy field. The infield was a sea of mud and that the game was as fast as it was, is considered remarkable.

Shelbyville played nice ball but could do nothing with the delivery of "Chick" Avery. The "Chicken" once more demonstrated that he is "some" pitcher. Only one man reached second base and he should have been out at the start, as he struck out and Spacey dropped the ball. Cliff, the left fielder of the Shelbyville team was the lucky man reaching second. He was advanced from first to second when Thomas fumbled a play at first. This was in the fifth inning. Cliff was caught off second by Carter and the danger of a run was over.

Avery had everything and backed up with splendid support, considering the heavy field held the Ramblers safe. Only two safe hits were gathered off Avery and he fanned twelve men. Carter was the man with the big stick for Rushville. The fast little short stop gathered a single and a pretty two bagger. He also scored two of the local's three runs. "Eddie" Cook, who is usually good for at least three hits was let down with only one. But "Cookie" played a swell game in the field.

Smith, the Shelbyville pitcher, had the locals guessing for five innings when he let down and the game was put on ice. The Shelbyville team by the way, is composed of three Smiths—Smith, Jim Smith and Smith. Now this pitcher Smith had a drop ball that was a fooler and outside of five wild pitches had it working fine. He struck out eleven men but six hits were made off his delivery. The locals started in on the jump and one run was annexed in the first inning.

Carter beat out an infield hit and stole second. He took third on a passed ball. Miller was safe when Smith, the center fielder dropped a high fly. Carter scored on the play. Cook struck out. Thomas fled out to Clem and Darmondy was out, Hawk to Trick. No more scoring was done until the fifth when Carter was again pushed across for a run. With two down Carter connected with one of Smith's slants for two bases. Miller laid down a nice hit along the right field line. Carter scoring.

The third and last run was made in the eighth. Cook hit a hot line, too hard to be fielded and was safe. Thomas hit to right field. It looked to be a clean hit but by fast fielding he was caught at first. Cook took third on the play. Darmondy struck out. Geraghty got his only hit of the day, slugging out a clean single to deep right. Cook scoring. Harcourt struck out. In the ninth with two down, the Ramblers put Peek Orme in to bat for Hawk. The Shelbyville team forgot to consult Umpire Perry and Hawk was called out, ending the game. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

It was the third straight shut out victory for the locals. In the three games only four hits have been made off Avery. Connersville was let down without a hit, and the Indianapolis Browns and Shelbyville were given two each.

Brookville is the attraction Sunday and the locals expect to continue their winning streak.

Harcourt, on third, had his first and only chance in the field yesterday in the two games he has played. It came in the sixth when Smith laid a hit down toward third. The chance was fielded clearly.

"Jim" Smith, the Shelbyville catcher, received an injury to his right thumb in the fifth when the ball hit it on the nail. The chances are it's pretty sore today.

Both teams were disappointed when the rain kept them from playing the morning game.

Spacey caught the game with his injured thumb, but the wound has healed enough not to cause him any trouble.

"Scottie" Cooley of Connersville was on deck and would have been used had both games been played. Cooley is well thought of here as a pitcher and may be taken on as utility man.

In the eighth Charlie Thomas stopped a hot one from Will's bat that looked like a sure hit. "Tommy" is credited with the only error made by the locals. It was not costly and of little importance. The crowd was probably the largest of the season and would have been larger with favorable weather.

Earl Halterman of near Moscow has been signed by Manager Maibaugh to play left field and will be seen in a Rushville uniform Sunday. Halterman is said to be a fast fielder, a good hitter and can pitch in a pinch. Mike Darmondy drew his release yesterday. Darmondy is a good fielder but weak in the hitting end of the game.

FOUR PROMISING COLTS IN STRING

John Ferguson is Breaking Two by Radium and Two by The Patchen Boy.

ARE VERY GOOD PROSPECTS

John Ferguson is developing into a fast horse trainer of some propensity. He now has in his string four green trotters, belonging to Dora Abercrombie, which promise to perform well on the track. Two of them are by The Patchen Boy, and are only two-year-olds. They are likely looking animals. The other two are by Radium. They are both four year olds. One of the Patchen Boy colts is out of a mare by Baron Posey, and with the breeding she has should be able in a few years to go after the big stakes.

NO INJURIES DUE TO CELEBRATION

Fourth of July in Rushville is Comparatively "Safe and Sane"—Noise is Scarce.

FEW EXPLOSIVES ARE SOLD

The celebration of the Fourth in Rushville was, in a large measure "safe and sane," as compared with former years. The dealers in fireworks say that the demand for the noisy explosives such as cannon crackers is growing less each year, and this year very little of this class of fireworks was sold. The noise from the explosion of fireworks was more pronounced last night, but even then was not so bad as it has been in Rushville. There were no serious accidents in Rush county caused by "insane" celebration. A story was circulated last night that a man had been shot, but the police nor physicians heard anything of it.

RACING CARD FURNISHESPORT

Road Race at Red Men's Celebration

Develops Exciting Finishes

Though Track was Slow.

TIME BETTER THAN 3 MINUTES

Slow Mule Event Affords the Most

Amusement, Earl Winship's Animal Being Stubbornest.

The racing features entertained the crowd at the Red Men's Fourth of July celebration at the fair ground yesterday afternoon. It required six heats to decide the road pace, but the slow mule race was not so hotly contested.

Earl Winship's mule won the race because he was the slowest mule. His mount was different in each heat. The riders found it too trying to ride more than one heat. Rhodes won the road pace. Henry Clevenger, driving a Patchen Boy four-year-old mare, made Rhores extend his horse to win.

The remarkable thing about the road pace was the time made considering the conditions. The mud on the track was three inches deep, nevertheless the heats were all better than a three minute clip. The heats were half miles, and most of them were made in close to 1:27.

"Dusty" Miller's mare looked like the fastest in the bunch the first heat. She outpaced the field of six, and won with ease. Henry Clevenger, however, showed that he was a contender for first money when he stepped in and won the second and third heats in exciting finishes. He won the third heat by a little more than a nose. Four of the six horses finished all in a bunch each heat.

Clevenger finished the fourth heat not more than a neck's length ahead of Rhodes. The judges, however, placed him last and gave the heat to Rhodes, who finished second, because they declared Clevenger fouled Rhodes on the home stretch. Rhodes had the pole and the horses entered the stretch, and Clevenger pulled in so close that Rhodes could not drive around Clevenger, had his horse been able to do it.

Rhodes won the fifth heat in a close and exciting finish. With two first each, the race was decided when Clevenger and Rhodes raced their horses neck and neck in the sixth heat, Rhodes finishing little less than a length ahead of Clevenger.

"Dusty" Miller was given third money and Wright, fourth. Lawson finished fifth and Cline sixth in the summary.

The slow mule race afforded most amusement. Jerry Sullivan, Billy O'Neil and "Granny" Osborne each took a chance at riding Winship's mule. Sullivan was the most successful of the lot. When he was the mount, the mule balked at the first turn and no persuasive powers known to man would budge the animal. The owner was finally able to get the mule around the track. Boards, clubs and whips were used on the mule with very little effect.

how we can best reduce this number of dollars to a minimum. The solution of the problem lies with the refrigerator.

Q The price you pay to-day for a refrigerator is but a small part of the price you will pay in the life time of the refrigerator for ice.
